

Academic Foundation Programme (AUoA) 2020 Application Supplementary Information

Academic Unit of Application	Question 1	Question 2	Question 3	Question 4	Question 5	Question 6
East Anglia: Cambridge	What are your specific reasons for applying to the Cambridge Academic Foundation Programme? Please highlight how the Programme will contribute to your clinical or research career plans and briefly outline these.	What is your single best clinical or research achievement (paper / presentation / or prize) and why?	Academic medicine requires an individual to work successfully in a team. Describe a time that is relevant to your foundation training when you have worked as a successful member of a team and identify your role and contribution to this success.	Understanding the nature of dark matter is an example of an unanswered high priority challenge in astrophysics. Please give an example of an unanswered high priority challenge in medicine and explain the reasons for your choice.	Please outline your research interests and how they relate to the academic Programme and choices available. If you have selected 'Choice A, B, C or D', please identify your first preference academic rotation (from the 8 in the prospectus) if you have already made a decision.	Please list below any achievements that are relevant to the application that have not been captured elsewhere in your application.
East Anglia: Norfolk & Norwich	Please describe your research and teaching experience	Please describe a research project that you would like to undertake.	Please describe your career plans.	N/A	N/A	N/A
Essex, Bedfordshire & Hertfordshire (EBH)	Please say whether you would prefer to apply for EBH Educational Academics [Basildon, Southend, Luton, East & North Herts [East Anglian Educational Academics [Ipswich, Kings Lynn] or both. Please also state if	Please describe your previous relevant teaching experience and achievements as a teacher.	Please describe your experience in simulation training and the value of development of simulation training for doctors	Please give details of your special study modules or elective attachment (or proposal) and their significance to the development of your academic career.	N/A	N/A

	you are predominantly interested in simulation or medical education streams.
East Midlands	Please explain why you wish to apply for an Academic Foundation Programme post.	N/A	N/A	N/A	N/A	N/A
London	N/A	N/A	N/A	N/A	N/A	N/A
Northern	Please identify your educational reasons for applying for the Academic Foundation Programme in the Northern Foundation School? (225 words max)	We recognise that applicants will have had varying levels of research and teaching experience. Please give one example in your medical student career to date of a research project or teaching experience and its significance to your application for an academic foundation Programme. (225 words max)	Academic medicine requires an individual to work successfully in a team. Describe a time that is relevant to your foundation training when you have worked as a successful member of a team and identify your role and contribution to this success.(225 word max)	Give two examples of your non-academic achievements and their significance to your application for an Academic Foundation Programme (225 words max)	Give one example in which you have demonstrated your leadership abilities. The example should be from your undergraduate experience (or postgraduate experience if relevant) and should identify your specific role and contribution as a leader and its relevance to academic activities. (225 words max)	N/A
Northern Ireland	How would training in the Northern Ireland Academic Foundation Programme	We recognise that applicants will have had varying levels of research and teaching	Academic medicine requires an individual to work successfully in a team. Describe a	Based on the Academic Foundation Posts available in Northern Ireland,	Please describe your contribution to one of the publications described in your	Please indicate how your career goals may be influenced by a Foundation contribute to your overall career plans?	experience. Please give one example in your medical student career to date of a research project or teaching experience and its significance to your application for an academic foundation Programme.	time that is relevant to your foundation training when you have worked as a successful member of a team and identify your role and contribution to this success.	what academic specialties may interest you and explain reasons for your choice.	application form.	Academic career opportunity

North West of England	We recognise that applicants will have different experiences in research, medical education or within leadership roles. Please give one example of such an experience or role that you have had in your medical student career and its significance to your application for an Academic Foundation Programme. (max 200 words)	Academic medicine requires an individual to work successfully within a team. Give an example in which you have participated and contributed to the successful working of a team. The example should clearly identify your role and the skills you used to contribute to the achievements of that team. Explain the significance of this experience to your application for an Academic Foundation Programme. (max 200 words)	Provide a supporting statement about your future career aspirations and why you are suited to your intended career. (max 200 words)	N/A	N/A	N/A
Oxford	How would training in this Academic Foundation	We recognise that applicants will have had varying levels	Academic medicine requires an individual to work	What are the teaching and research skills	Describe how you would set out to answer a	N/A

	Programme contribute to your overall career plans?	of research and teaching experience. Please give one example in your medical student career to date of a research project or teaching experience and its significance to your application for an academic foundation Programme.	successfully in a team. Describe a time that is relevant to your foundation training when you have worked as a successful member of a team and identify your role and contribution to this success.	(maximum of 3) that you would like to take away from the Oxford Academic Programme, and that you do not already have? Briefly outline your strategy for acquiring or developing these skills.	research question that has arisen from a specific clinical case that you have been involved in.
Scotland	How would training in this Academic Foundation Programme contribute to your overall career plans?	We recognise that applicants will have had varying levels of research and teaching experience. Please give one example in your medical student career to date of a research project or teaching experience and its significance to your application for an academic foundation Programme.	What are the teaching and research skills (maximum of 3) that you would most like to take away from the Scottish Academic Programme, and that you do not already have? Briefly outline your strategy for acquiring or developing these skills.	Describe how you would set out to answer a research question that has arisen from a specific clinical case that you have been involved in.	N/A	N/A
South West	Across our AUoA we are able to offer separate academic programmes focussed on research, education ;or management. Please explain your rationale for your choice of programmes.	Please outline your previous research experience and achievements.	Please describe your previous relevant teaching experience and achievements as a teacher.	Please describe your experience and achievements as a leader and/or manager.	Please give details of your special study modules or elective attachment (or proposal) and their significance to the development of your academic	Give one example of a non-academic achievement and its significance to your application for an Academic Foundation Programme.

Wales	How would training in this Academic Foundation Programme contribute to your overall career plans?	We recognise that applicants will have had varying levels of research and teaching experience. Please give one example in your medical student career to date of a research project or teaching experience and its significance to your application for an academic foundation Programme.	Academic medicine requires an individual to work successfully in a team. Describe a time that is relevant to your foundation training when you have worked as a successful member of a team and identify your role and contribution to this success.	N/A	career. N/A	N/A
Wessex	What are your career plans, and why have you applied for an academic foundation programme in Wessex?	Please give one example from your career to date of a research project. What research skills did you develop?	Academic medicine requires an individual to work successfully in a team. Provide an example that is relevant to foundation training when you have worked as a successful member of a team. Please identify your role and contribution to its success.	What are the challenges of being a clinical academic and how can we overcome them?	What are the research skills (maximum of 3) that you would most like to take away from the Academic Foundation Programme, and that you do not already have? Briefly outline your strategy for acquiring or developing these.	N/A
West Midlands	How would training in the West Midlands Academic Foundation Programme contribute to your overall career plans?	We recognise that applicants will have had varying levels of research and teaching experience. Please give one example in your medical student career to	Academic medicine requires an individual to work successfully in a team. Describe a time that is relevant to your foundation training when you have worked as a	Describe your contribution to, participation in and development of either dissemination of research or to a teaching activity.	Look at the GMC's guidelines "Good Medical Practice". Pick one of the four domains of Good Medical Practice, state this and illustrate, with	Give up to three examples from your personal, educational or professional experiences that demonstrate your leadership skills. ; You should

		date of a research project or teaching experience and its significance to your application for an academic foundation Programme.	successful member of a team and identify your role and contribution to this success.		examples, how you have demonstrated your commitment to this will contribute to an academic career. You can find the guidelines at http://www.gmc-uk.org .	identify your specific role and contribution as a leader. ;
Yorkshire and Humber	N/A	N/A	N/A	N/A	N/A	N/A